Jim Trosper developed a great appreciation for photography at an early age. When deciding on a college to attend, Trosper knew he would need to select a school with a great understanding and focus on photography. After completing his degree in photographic arts from the University of Central Oklahoma, Trosper began seeking freelance work that would build a firm foundation for his photography career.

Trosper has spent much of his time photographing live bands at the Zoo Amphitheatre and live horse racing at Remington Park. Trosper enjoys working with new photo styles every time he ventures out for a shoot and spends time challenging himself and his photography to create irreplaceable images.

Trosper's work has been featured at different location in Oklahoma City and at Foolish Things Coffee Co. in Tulsa, Oklahoma. He has received several awards for his photography including first and third place at the 2016 Southeastern Art Show and Market (SEASAM) and third place at the 2017 Artesian Arts Festival.
