Tony Tiger is an award-winning artist, independent curator, art educator and an enrolled member of the Sac and Fox Nation of Oklahoma. His art has been collected across the nation and around the globe. Tiger earned a Master of Fine Arts degree from the University of Oklahoma and a Bachelor of Fine Arts from Oklahoma State University.

Tiger is currently one of three artists in the Altars of Reconciliation exhibit, a traveling exhibition dealing with Indigenous Christianity. He is also curating an Oklahoma contemporary Indigenous art exhibit titled Speak: Speak While You Can, expressing the vitality of the revitalization of tribal languages in Oklahoma tribes. The exhibit will open at the Living Arts Center in Tulsa in September 2020.
